PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

It has been almost two years from the time that I accepted the Presidency of Jewish Residents of Leisure World. I feel that I have accomplished much with the help of my Board of Directors, their committees and members of our organization. Everyone made contributions.

We enjoyed our trip to the Naval Academy and seeing the brick on the Donor Wall that read "Jewish Residents of Leisure World, Silver Spring, MD." We attended two Washington Nationals Baseball games: one win, one loss. We have several women representing us at the Interfaith Chapel working for the homeless, making sandwiches, knitting Kaps for Kids and preparing meals for the homeless. Both of our Atlantic City trips were successful. Our monthly Friday night and Saturday morning services have always been gratifying, thanks to our wonderful clergy. We are now also conducting additional, brief Saturday morning services and Torah study on the days we do not have regular Shabbat Services.

The learning programs co-sponsored by JRLW, JCC and CoA have been successful. Our Senior Expo last year held in Clubhouse I brought us senior information and entertainment from the Capital Steps. The Sunday morning brunches Jewish mothers are the most easily maligned image of Jewish women found in movies and television today. You know who they are: the caricature of the overbearing, emasculating, long suffering mother ever-ready with mountains of food. Australian director Monique Schwarz takes a funny, penetrating look at how the loving and affectionate portrayals in early Yiddish and Hollywood silent movies developed into the Jewish Mother of modern Hollywood and, conversely, the more flesh and blood characterizations in contemporary Israeli cinema.

"The Jewish mothers that I know and love are sexy, smart and strong, but I have never seen this mother in Hollywood movies, and I set out to find out why."

CANTOR'S CORNER

Mike Kravitz

I've been invited to write a column that I'd like to call "Cantor's Corner" for the JRLW newsletter. This will be the first of what I hope will be many.

Some of you know that I appeared as a contestant on the television show JEOPARDY! February 14th of this year marked the 19th anniversary of the taping. I don't know where the years went – most of the details are still fresh -very fresh - and it seems like just yesterday that I was getting ready for the show.

I loved watching game shows as a kid, and when I was in high school, a game show produced by Merv Griffin appeared at 12 noon on NBC. It was called JEOPARDY! and its premise was that the contestants were given the answers – they, the contestants, had to come up with the QUESTIONS. It was hosted by Art Fleming, it was fast and it was fun. I decided then and there that I wanted to be on the show.

I took the test for JEOPARDY! in New York in 1969. It was a written test. I think I did okay, but I never got called. Then the show went off the air. When it came back in the mid-1980's, there was a new host named Alex Trebek. The format was the same, but there was a huge increase in the payouts. The value for each category was multiplied ten-fold. The JEOPARDY! round in the old show had money values that ranged from $10 to $50. The new show started at $100 and went up to $500 with Double Jeopardy! twice that amount. I was liking it more and more.

My wife Cheryl and I decided to go to Los Angeles in the summer of 1988 for a vacation, and I made a reservation to take the JEOPARDY! test. I had heard, unofficially, that one needed to answer 35 (out of 50) questions right in order to go to step two which was a mock version of the game. If a contestant got past that, he/she got to talk to the producers. Even getting to that stage was no guarantee of making it to the show. But, for every player who wanted to be on JEOPARDY,! that was the game plan, and I was one of many who sat down to take the test. It was 50 categories, 50 questions with a time limit. I didn't pass. The test I was given appeared 2 years later in a book called THE JEOPARDY! BOOK, a book that I purchased. I compared the answers to those I thought I had given. I needed 35 correct answers. I got 33.

For those who think that the written test for JEOPARDY! should be a snap because they get a lot of the answers right when they watch the show at home, let me say that nothing could be farther from the truth. The test is TOUGH. Many potential players are eliminated at this stage because the questions the producers use are the $1800 and $2000 point value questions from current game values. I would take the test again, in California, in 1989 and 1990. I failed each of those times, too.

Something would happen in late 1993 which would get me over the hump, and I'll share that story in my next column.

FEEL GOOD!

May the world hug you today
With its warmth, and love
And may the wind carry a voice
That tells you there is a friend
Sitting in another corner of the world wishing you well!

NA'AMAT NEWS

Ruth Reid

April ushers in spring. A new beginning with trees blossoming and flowers blooming.

For NA'AMAT, April actually begins a winding down of our year. The final three months of the NA'AMAT year. Our year is based on a fiscal year. This year began on July 1, 2014, and will end on June 30, 2015.

The beginning of our winding down is our Spritual Adoption Luncheon on Wednesday, April 1, in the Ballroom of Clubhouse I. The lunch will be delicious and the speaker, Leslie Milk, is a delight. This is our biggest fund raiser of the year. Many of our members contribute generously at this event.

On Sunday, May 17, NA'AMAT will sponsor the JRLW brunch. The speaker, Charles O. Heller, will be most interesting. He will speak about being a young boy in Europe during the 1930's when Hitler and the Nazi party were coming to power and how it affected him and his family.

On Tuesday, May 19, we will have our annual Installation/Donor Luncheon at the Manor Country club. The entertainment will be 'Shades of Polynesia' featuring Hawaiian music, dancing, singers and some audience participation. Aloha!

On Wednesday, June 3, we will have our 'end of the year' celebration. Woman of the year award will be presented. Financial report will be given and we will have a light lunch and program. This program will take place in the Chesapeake Room of Clubhouse I. If you have any questions, you may call Ruth Reid at 301-598-4051.

REMEMBER: THINK ISRAEL, THINK NA'AMAT!

HOME MODIFICATIONS CAN KEEP YOU SAFE

Studies conducted by the AARP show that the majority of homes are not equipped enough to accommodate the special needs of people aged 65 and above, and they are not designed to meet the needs of people with disabilities either. Home modifications could prevent up to 50% of accidents in the home for senior citizens.

Home modification is an important resource for the elderly and people with disabilities, because it helps them to age in a more comfortable and familiar environment. Some of these modifications involve nothing more than adding a minor assistive technology. Others involve a little home remodeling. From adding pull handles to cabinet doorways to installing wheelchair ramps, there are many great options available for those living with physical limitations.

When mobility is limited, the stairs can be a major problem. Many senior citizens suffer from some form of balance problem. Even taking a shower can be dangerous and challenging. Slipping and falling on the stairs or in the shower are two of the most common risks faced by seniors living at home. The risk of having a balance problem increases as you get older.

Installing railings in the bathroom and shower can prevent falls while showering and dressing. Lowering sink and countertop heights can reduce the number of falls created by trying to grab something that is out of reach.

Are you looking for a solution to safely stay in your home longer?

Call today for your FREE in-home assessment and home modification guide.

MedStar Pharmacy Can Help You Protect Yourself from Pneumonia

As is the case with many diseases, older adults have a higher risk of pneumonia than the general population. The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently recommended that older adults receive two different vaccines to protect them from pneumococcal diseases - Pevnar 13 and the Pneumovax 23. Today we will discuss the first of these vaccines – Pevnar 13.

Pevnar 13 is a vaccine that protects against 13 various strains of Streptococcus pneumoniae, that is approved for use in adults 50 years of age and older. In adults, when the bacterium Streptococcus pneumoniae infects the lungs it can cause pneumococcal pneumonia. FDA's Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research, stated that according to recent information for the United States, "it is estimated that approximately 300,000 adults 50 years of age and older are hospitalized yearly because of pneumococcal pneumonia." The Pevnar 13 is an additional vaccine to the previous Pneumovax 23. While special cases exist, generally, the ACIP (Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices) recommends Pevnar 13 for adults 65 and older and has developed a schedule as follows:

1. If a patient has never received a Pneumococcal vaccine: Administer Pevnar 13 first, then 6-12 months later administer Pneumovax 23
2. If a patient received Pneumovax 23 at 65 years or older: Administer Pevnar 13 at least 1 year after most recent dose.
3. If a patient started Pneumovax 23 series of vaccines before 65 years of age but now is 65 or older, Pevnar 13 is recommended at least 1 year later. The second dose of Pneumovax 23 will be given 6-12 months after the Pevnar

13 but no sooner than 5 years after the first Pneumovax 23 dose, which ever is greater.

The Pevnar 13 is given in the arm and commonly reported adverse reactions include injection pain, redness, and swelling. Pevnar 13 should not be given to anyone with a history of severe allergic reaction of any component of Pevnar 13 or any diphtheria toxoid-containing vaccine.

The medical team at MedStar Health at Leisure World have been working diligently to provide these vaccinations to the residents of this community. To receive the Pevnar13 vaccine please contact MedStar Pharmacy at 301-598-1005. A pharmacy representative will help you schedule an appointment.

JDS STUDENTS TO HELP LEISURE WORLD SENIORS UNDERSTAND COMMUNICATION TECHNOLOGY

Fred Shapiro

The students from the Charles E. Smith Jewish Day School will be serving the community Sunday, April 26, by working with our residents to better understand the communications technology that is prevalent in today's world. Co-sponsored by the Computer Learning Center and the Jewish Residents of Leisure World, approximately 20 students will use the computer facilities in Clubhouse II from 11:00 AM to 1:00 PM to work one-on-one with our residents to better cope with their computers, smartphones, tablets, iPods, the Internet e-mails and the software that is commonly used.

To facilitate the project, residents interested in participating will be able to register at the E&R office in Clubhouse II, indicating the particular equipment and/or software that is of most concern to them. This will enable the volunteer chairs of the program, Stacey Relkin Winkler and Leah Rogel, to schedule our residents with the JDS students. Look for more details in the LW News as to the exact topics to be offered and to register at that time.

Founded in 1965, the Charles E. Smith Jewish Day School (CESJDS) is one of the largest and most prestigious K-12 independent Jewish day schools. Students flourish with the support of dedicated faculty and the opportunity to work with cutting-edge technologies. CESJDS seeks to embody eight core values among its student, faculty, staff, parent and greater community: Torah L'Shmah (Love of Learning), Ahavat

Yisrael (Love of Israel) K'dushah (Holiness), Ahavat Torah (Love of Torah), Tikkun Olam

(Repairing the World), V'ahavta L'Rayakha (Love Your Neighbor), Pluralism, and Kehillah (Community).

CESJDS's mission is to foster the growth of confident, compassionate thinkers who engage the world through Jewish values.

The Interfaith Committee of Leisure World will commemorate the Holocaust in its annual Yom Hashoah service Thursday, April 16, at 1:30 pm in the Activities Room of Clubhouse II. The keynote speaker for the event will be Gilbert Waganheim, a US Army Officer who was present at the liberation of the Mauthausen Concentration Camp. We also honor the survivors, those who resisted and the righteous Gentiles. Joan Soffer will be soliciting volunteers from among the survivors living in Leisure World to participate. Rabbi Gary Fink and Cantor Mike Kravitz will participate as will the JRLW choir lead by Ed Laskin.

There will be readings and prayers by clergy and members of the four religious organizations in Leisure World that constitute the Interfaith Committee – The Interfaith Chapel, Lady of Grace Catholic Church, the Universalist Unitarians and the Jewish Residents of Leisure World.
