PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The Board meeting on June 2 covered new provisions to our By-Laws; rules on charitable giving by JRLW; and a continuing discussion with the religious committee and Allan Firestone as to the purchase of new prayer books for both the Reform and Conservative services. It is the hope of the Board that this can be resolved and new prayer books can be acquired.

New board members and committee chairpersons were selected to fill the vacancies and to continue with the current operation of JRLW. Please note we are still looking for members to join the existing committees and any vacancies that may occur. We need members to come forward to aid in the operation of JRLW if it is going to function properly.

A special meeting with JCC and JRLW was held on June 10 to plan the Health and Wellness Expo for next year.

In the future, I will attempt to convey to our members the activities of the Board and will listen to any suggestions. Our Board is attempting to provide the best services and programs for JRLW members.

There was an excellent turnout for our Shavuot Service and dedication of our new Sefer Torah. I thank all those who were involved in presenting this program.

We also had an Israeli Independence celebration. It was a wonderful program and the Cantors' concert was inspirational. I want to thank Fred Shapiro and his staff for the excellent job in putting this program together.

The June 16 meeting for special trips for JRLW members to Israel also had a good turnout and E & R will have further information on these trips in the JRLW mail slot.

The Nationals Baseball game was a complete sellout. Congratulations to Neil Ross in putting this event together.

MEET OUR PRESIDENT

Larry Sperling

Many people have come up to me and asked me my name and what is my position. I never had a formal introduction to the members.

My name is Lawrence Sperling. Most of my friends and clients for many years have called me Larry or Doc.

I was raised in SW Washington and went to the Hebrew Academy of Washington and graduated in the ninth grade. In SW Washington I lived two blocks from Al Jolson and his family. I went to Theodore Roosevelt High School where I was in the College Preparatory Educational Program and was in the ROTC program all three years. If not for injuries to both my knees, I would have had an appointment to one of the service academies and probably would have made a career in the military service.

It should also be noted that I started my first business when I was 8 years old; I also worked various jobs and as a teenager I worked at the Jersey shore during the summer on the Atlantic City boardwalk, Steel Pier and the 500 Club. I was fortunate to meet many of the famous and infamous persons of that time. My father gave me $300 and told me to get a college education. Therefore, I had to get a job to work my way thru school. I worked for Safeway, Inc., the Alcoa Corporation, Retail Credit Corporation as an investigator and other various jobs to get thru school. I also was a teacher of various college courses at local universities and community colleges.

My undergraduate work at University of Maryland, I obtained a BS Degree in Economics and Business Administration; a BA Degree in Sociology and Psychology; an MBA in International Finance; and a PHD in Economics. I also obtained a Juris Doctorate from Howard University and a Master of Tax Law Degree from Georgetown University. During my studies I took classes at Georgetown University, George Washington University, American University, Wharton School of Finance, NYU, Columbia University, and the University of Chicago.

In representing clients over the years I have appeared in the highest court in 45 of the 50 states and was fortunate to work with a committee of lawyers representing clients before the Supreme Court of the United States.

I have had and continue to have an accounting and tax practice since 1965.

I have two sons, both doctors and are married to doctors, and no grandchildren at this time.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH

Larry Sperling

This is the entire speech of the dedication of the new Sefer Torah. I gave a condensed version at the Service and thought you might enjoy the total remarks:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who came to this special occasion and I want to thank Cantor Kravitz for leading us thru this Shavuot Service.

It is a great honor to share with you this joyous and historic occasion of the presentation of the new Sefer Torah. I want to congratulate this congregation and the members of JRLW on the achievement in acquiring this new Torah.

I wish to especially commend Alan Firestone and the Religious Committee of JRLW for your work and dedication in making this day a reality.

This occasion bespeaks the tremendous power of committee: of common values, common goals and common tasks. A huge undertaking such as this from a ceaseless fundraising and every step in between is a testimony to the capacity of all of you to pull together when inspired by a vision. I trust that each of you will feel proud of your new Torah - all 304,805 letters of it - and cherish the memory of the hard work and spirit of solidarity that guided through the process of making it part of our congregation.

Community is much more than the sum total of social structures. It is the ongoing current of peoples' interactions and relationships, a perpetual work in progress.

Community and the current therein does have a path. It takes the direction of peoples' shared vision of how best to live and obviously is the process of the living Torah. You, the congregation of JRLW, exemplifies the beauty that can emerge when the responsibility to community is taken seriously. The task of getting this new Torah, you now know first hand, how community is strengthened thru a common commitment and how it is a living legacy that connects us with each other and those who come before us and those who will follow in future generations.

On this historic occasion, I salute the commitment of the JRLW community.

What a wonderful pleasure it has been to participate in the dedication of this Torah. Today, we the members of JRLW, promise to consecrate ourselves individually and as a community to this new Torah just as our ancestors consecrated themselves when they stood at Sinai. We promise to act in such a way as to make the words of this Torah sweet by loving, honoring and cherishing each other.

It is important that this dedication of the new Sefer Torah occurs on the first day of Shavuot which commemorates the anniversary of the day God gave the Torah to the entire Nation of Israel assembled at Mount Sinai. The People of Israel being free from their enslavement on Shavuot they were given the Torah and became a nation committed to serving God. Many people do not remember the practice of staying up all Shavuot night to study Torah. It should be noted that this practice of studying Torah all night relates to the fact that the Israelites had overslept and Moses had to wake them up because God was already waiting on the mountain top. To rectify this perceived flaw many Jews stay up all night to study Torah.

Once again, I wish to thank you for this unique opportunity to participate in the dedication of this new Sefer Torah.

CANTOR'S CORNER 4

Cantor Mike Kravitz

On Saturday, January 6, 1996 the day after I got the call from JEOPARDY! the D.C. metro area got hit by the blizzard of '96. Schools were closed for the following week. My wife Cheryl was at an out-of-town meeting when the snow hit and could not get home until Wednesday, and I had 2-1/2 year old Rachel and we were snowbound. So, I worked in study time when I could and tried to get information on categories in which I knew I was not strong. One of those categories was fashion designers. There wasn't much on the internet in those days, and I came to realize that if that category came up in my game, I'd just have to bite the bullet. I practiced with the academic team at Blair High School whenever I could, and I felt ready by the time Cheryl, Rachel and I headed to California.

I arrived at the Sony Pictures Studio where the games were being taped early in the morning on Wednesday, February 14. JEOPARDY! tapes 5 shows a day, so 2 weeks of shows get done in 2 days. Each of the contestants had to sign off on a bunch of papers and then got the chance to play a practice round using real signaling buttons. We were warned that we had to wait until Alex finished reading the last syllable of a clue. At that point a red light would go on around the television monitor that showed the answer, a light we would see in the studio but the home audience would not see. Buzz in too early, and that player would not be able to buzz in again for 0.2 second- -an eternity when up against top-notch players.

I had a rooting section for me at game time. Rachel, at 2-1/2, was too young to be in the studio, but Cheryl's older daughter Lynn, my brother-in-law Norm and his son Sam were in the audience when I was chosen to play in the second game. I missed my first question which the defending champion answered correctly and he then found the DAILY DOUBLE on the very next question --and missed it. I had an opening, went on a run, and by the end of the JEOPARDY! round, had as much money as the other two contestants combined.

Alex chose to talk about an honor I had received just before going on the show – being selected to be included in “WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICA'S TEACHERS.” A teacher has to be selected by one of an elite group of very successful college students who were asked to name a teacher that was most influential in his/her life. For one of my 1992-93 school year chemistry students, I was that teacher, and Alex handled the interview well.

DOUBLE JEOPARDY! did not go as well as I would have liked. The buzzing technique that had worked so well in the JEOPARDY! round did not work in DOUBLE JEOPARDY! The defending champ found both DAILY DOUBLES in the round and all three in the game. He bet heavily and got each of the ones in DOUBLE JEOPARDY! I finished the round in second place but still had a chance to win if I got FINAL JEOPARDY right and the champ missed. The category that showed up? DESIGNERS! I decided to go for the win and bet heavily enough that if I were right and he was wrong, I'd win the game. The answer was “THIS DESIGNER WHO DIED IN 1892 GOT HIS FIRST BIG BREAK DESIGNING LUGGAGE FOR EMPRESS EUGENIE.” Empress Eugenie was French, and I knew the name “SAMSON” from Saint-Saen's French opera SAMSON ET DALILAH. I thought this might have been the basis for Assonate luggage and it seemed like a logical clue. When the woman in third place had her answer of “Who was Samson” read I was waiting for Alex to say “that is correct.” What he said instead was “that's incorrect, but not a bad guess.” It turned out that the champ got the correct response which was “Who was Louis Vuitton?”

I stayed for the next game. FINAL JEOPARDY! in that game was THE ELEMENTS and I was a chemistry teacher! I got the answer immediately, the champ missed it, and the

ANNUAL BOOK OF REMEMBRANCE

The book includes the names of the donors along with the names of the departed, whom we so poignantly remember. The book is distributed each year on Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement. woman in third place bet everything, got it right and went on to appear on 4 shows and win almost $40,000. In July, 1996 I saw the 10 shows that had been taped during my L.A. stay. I saw all 10 FINAL JEOPARDY! categories. I came up with 9 correct responses. The only one I missed was the one on my show.

I refused to play the “what if I’d played in that third game of the day?” game. I didn’t. I played in the second game. I didn’t win the big money I’d hoped to win. I did take home a second-place prize. But I got my chance to do something I had really wanted to do for over 30 years! It would have been easy to have given up when I failed those earlier tests. I didn’t. And that dogged determination to try again eventually paid off. I wanted to hear announcer Johnny Gilbert call my name. And when he said “a teacher and cantor from Gaithersburg, Maryland, MIKE KRAVITZ,” that DID happen.

So, for those of you reading this who have said that there is something you’ve always wanted to do, I say “go for it.” You don’t want to look back and say “if only.” You might surprise yourself by just how good you can be.

NA'AMAT NEWS

Ruth Reid

Summertime and the "Livin' is Easy," to quote Gershwin

It is true that in July things quiet down and we think about relaxing and enjoying the slower pace. But if it is summer, then it must be time for a picnic. So we decided to do our annual indoor picnic on Wednesday, July 22, at 5:30 pm in the Maryland Room in Clubhouse I. We will serve kosher franks and kosher hamburgers and all the trimmings including cole slaw, potato salad, baked beans, watermelon, cake, coffee and lemonade. The entertainment is very special: Caron Dale. She sings, plays the guitar and is delightful. Since the Ballroom is being refurbished we are limited to a smaller area. Therefore, if you wish to make a reservation, please make it early or you will miss out.

Sorry to say the Riverside dinner theater that was to be in August had to be cancelled.

Our Board Meeting will be on Tuesday, July 21, at 10:30 am in Clubhouse I.

We welcome and appreciate new members. Our organization is the largest women's organization in Israel. We here in the USA, by supporting NA'AMAT Israel, keep the day care centers, the Glickman center for women open and provide the scholarships which keep our organization "alive and well." To all our members: "thank you."

REMEMBER: THINK ISRAEL, THINK NA'AMAT!

Date: Tuesday, July 21

Place: Clubhouse II

Time: 1:30 pm

Cost: $6.00/person, Check made out to JRLW and purchased at E&R

This film provides an eye-witness account of the well-known and much-loved Kutshers, the legendary Borscht Belt Hotel that was family owned and operated for over 100 years.

This award winning film captures a last glimpse of a lost world as it disappears before our eyes. These resorts were not only a Jewish vacation paradise, they had significant influence on entertainment, stand-up comedy, and sports. In this entertaining documentary, watch Wilt Chamberlain playing ball and working as a bellhop; laugh with Freddie Roman as his class routine still brings down the house; see ice skating instructor Celia Duffy hop on the Zamboni; and marvel at the abundance of hearty kosher feasts!

A MENSCH

Or would you rather be a mensch?

A mensch is a person whom you know you can trust.

Integrity and honor are a must.

ASSISTED LIVING – MEMORY SUPPORT

SIMPLY DIFFERENT

BECAUSE WHAT SURROUNDS YOU REALLY MATTERS.

Partnering with national leaders in the field, we've set a new benchmark in memory support. Creatively designed programs stimulate memory and build independence and self-esteem. Our community hums with a zest for living shared by residents and staff alike—in independent living, assisted living, memory support, rehabilitative care and nursing care.
